PROFILE

I am an enthusiastic, approachable and polite person, with strong interpersonal and communication skills. I am able to collectively work individually or as part of a team; I find it particularly exciting working under pressure.

Presently, my main interests revolve around the Art/Design and photography fields. In my spare time I find myself building up a contemporary portfolio of work, playing Snooker with my friends and keeping fit.

I've always been one to adapt quickly and adjust to different surroundings – finding myself intrigued by challenges and excited by a chance to exercise and develop key skills. As a determined, optimistic and well-motivated character, working with other people, as well as meeting new faces will be an exciting and stimulating opportunity.

EDUCATION

Fareham College, 2010-2012

After studying Photography as an AS level for a year I decided to follow my artistic passion by studying for a Photography Diploma. This stimulating combination of practical and theoretical work has given me a broad outlook and understanding of political and social issues that can compliment my practice. I worked in a very 'hands on' approach using teamwork and determination; I have enjoyed taking risks in my work and pushing the photographic boundaries of my course.
